The verses express love and affection in an inspiring way. A great poem to share with your Valentine!How Do I Love TheeHow do I love thee? Let me count the ways.I love thee to the depth and breadth and heightMy soul can reach, when feeling out of sightFor the ends of being and ideal grace. Read the full poem at How Do I Love Thee Poems Words that were written from the heart expressing love for that special person! Love You Dear Poet UnknownBecause I love you, dear,-Because my heart sings all day long,A song of love, a new sweet song,I find I love the whole world more.Because I love you, dear, -I love the little ones I pass,And see, in each dear lad and lassThe flower of love like ours, dear heart.Because I love you, dear, -I'm tenderer than I have ever been,The thought of you comes in betweenMe and an impulse less than true,Because I love you, dear, -Ah! what in all the world is thereI cannot suffer, cannot dare?Because you're all the world to me.The poet expresses how difficult it is to put his love into words, but healso expresses the joy he has found in that person he calls his Valentine.For A Valentine Poet: M. E. B.The blooming rose so fresh and fairSheds sweetest perfume on the air;But 'tis not so sweet to meAs loving language breathed by thee.The diamond is a gem so bright.It sparkles with a dazzling light;But all its worth I would not prizeLike loving glances from thine eyes.We try by words to faintly tellWhat feelings in our hearts do dwell,But none can speak the joy of mineIn calling thee my "Valentine."We would give anything to bring happiness to the one we love.But no material thing or no skill can ever bring more than your love!A Valentine Poet: Clinton ScollardIf only I might singLike birds in spring (Robin, or thrush, or wren,In grove or glen,If only I might suitTo harp or lute,To chime in tender timeSome touching rhyme,Then I'd hope in vainThine ear to gain ;But now - I halt - I quail -Ah! must I fail?So small my skill to pleadMy earnest need,Love - love is all the pleaI bring to thee.Be Mine Poet: John ImrieThe LOOK of a loving eyeTells all it knows,Like blushing rose.And lives to be lov'd - or die!The TOUCH of a gentle handA tale doth tellLove knoweth wellAnd only Love understand.The TONES of a loving voice,Like birds in Spring,Doth sweetly sing,And maketh the heart rejoice!The JOY of a loving heartNo tongue can tell:Its potent spellNeither time nor distance part!Sweet words that can never die;"Wilt thou be mine?" "I WILL BE THINE!"Is the maiden's faint reply.These links must not be broken.Oh! no! no! no!But stronger grow;Love's changeless, deathless token!Laden With Love Poet: UnknownI send you a book, dear, this season,For everything else seemed so small,I had such a volume of wishesNo letter could hold them at all.I wish you, oh, what don't I wish youOf everything lovely and sweet!May sunshine be always around youAnd pleasant the paths of your feet.These little winged messengers, flittingThe leaves of my book through and through,Are laden with love and remembranceAnd greetings all tender and true;Turn over my volume again, dear,And read 'twixt the lines, for you may,Whatever is brightest and fairest,That same do I wish you to-day.Valentines Day Poems For HimBecause I Love Youby Sarah K. BoltonI cannot bring you wealth," she said;I cannot bring you fame or placeAmong the noted of the race;But I can love you.When trials come to test you, sweet,I can be sunlight to your feet;My kiss your precious lips shall greet,Because I love you.If sickness comes, beside your bedI will bend low with quiet tread,And pray God's blessing on your head,Because I love you.Only myself, my all, I bring;But count it, sweet, a precious thingTo give my life an offering,Because I love you.To My Dear and Loving Husband Poet: Anne BradstreetIf ever two were one, then surely we,If ever man were loved by wife, then thee,If ever wife was happy in a man,Compare with me, ye women, if you can,I prize thy love more than whole mines of gold,Or all the riches that the East doth hold.My love is such that rivers cannot quench,Nor ought but love from thee give recompense.Thy love is such I can no way repay:The heavens reward thee manifold. I pray,Then while we live, in love let's so persevere,That when we live no more, we may live ever.Valentines Roses Poet: Julie Hebert, © 2012Roses are red, violets are blue,I can't believe, how much I love you.Our time together has been so sweet.Especially when we, get together to meet.Speaking is great, but cuddling much more.I love to tell you, how much I adore.So here we are, on this Valentine's Day,With lots of love, being sent your way.Valentines Surprise Poet: Julie Hebert, © 2012I have a treat for you,But it's only for your eyes.Well, it's not so much a treat,But a big exciting surprise.Why a surprise for you?Well, it's valentine's day of course.And today I'll treat you good,As my love I want to enforce.You may want it now,but tonight you'll have to wait.Your dinner I will serve,Along with something you'll find great.Now I know I'm teasing you.As this poem gives no hint,Just be patient, it will come,Tonight you'll get more than just a mint!Valentines Love Poet: Julie Hebert, © 2012Happy Valentine's Day to you,Happy Valentine's Day to me.It's time to go out and celebrate,We'll dance and drink with glee.Then when we finish celebrating,We will come back home.We will share our love for each other,Our love will never be unsaid.St. Valentine's Day Poet: Eloise A. SkimingsYoung Cupid awakes,His arrows he takes,And swiftly they fly from the bow.And hard is the heart.That withstands the dartOf the rosiest rogue I know.He quietly stealsOne's heart for his meals.And cares not how he is treated;If he aims in vainHe never was yet defeated.So here's to the healthOf the god of wealth.Held within Love's golden meshes,Which will never rustWhile Cupid we trust!With the human heart so precious.Call You Poet: Catherine PulsiferShall I call you sweetheart?My love comes from my heart,Or shall I call you my dearAs you are always near,Or perhaps "baby" is what I call you,Because I will always love you so true.But today I will call you my ValentineAnd ask you to be mine! Valentines Day Poems For HerYou And Only You Poet, J. Hebert, © 2012Today is a very special day,Not just for you but also for me.Today I get to tell you,How much I love thee,I'll show you with gifts and flowers,Maybe an evening out too,I've never loved someone so special,As how much I feel I love you.You're kind, loving and wonderful,These things that not everyone is,But that's why I'll love you forever;You'll always keep me in a quiz,So today I want to say something,To you and never another,Happy Valentine's Day my darling,There will never be any other.Your HeartPoet: Frances Sargent OsgoodYour heart is a music-box, dearest!With exquisite tunes at command,Of melody sweetest and clearest,If tried by a delicate hand;But its workmanship, love, is so fine,At a single rude touch it would break;Then, oh! be the magic key mine.Its fairy-like whispers to wake.And there's one little tune it can play,That I fancy all others above,You learned it of Cupid one day -It begins with and ends with "I love!" "I love!"My heart echoes to it "I love!"My Prayer For HerPoet: William MaxwellThis be my prayer for her -Blessings and honour,Rest like a halo bright.Ever upon her!How many kisses do I ask?Now you set me to my task.First, sweet maiden, will you tell meHow many waves are in the sea?How many stars are in the sky?How many lovers you make sigh?How many sands are on the shore?I shall wish just one kiss more.Sunshine In My HeartPoet: Lydia Avery CoonleyWithin the depths of her dear eyesThe spirit of the sunshine lies,And when she turns their light on me,The shadows of a lifetime flee.Spring, joy, and love become my part,For she is sunshine in my heart.Love And Reasonby Nixon WatermanThe lily's lips are pure and white without a touch of fire;The rose's heart is warm and red and sweetened with desire.In earth's broad fields of deathless bloom the gladdest lives are thoseWhose thoughts are as the lily and whose love is like the rose.Valentine's Day Poet: Charles Fenno HoffmanThe snow yet in the hollow lies;But, where by shelvy hill 'tis seen,In myriad rills it trickling fliesTo lace the slope with threads of green;Down in the meadow glancing wingsFlit in the sunshine round a tree,Where still a frosted apple clings.Regale for early Chickadee-And chestnut buds begin to swell,Where flying squirrels peep to knowIf from the tree-top, yet, 'twere wellTo sail on leathery wing below —As gently shy and timorose,Still holds she back who should be mine-Come, Spring, to her coy bosom, come,And warm it toward her Valentine!Come, Spring, and with the breeze that callsThe wind-flower by the hill-side rill,The soft breeze that by orchard wallsFirst dallies with the daffodil—Come lift the tresses from her cheekyAnd let me see the blush divine,That mantling there, those curls would seekTo hide from her true Valentine.Come, Spring, and with the Red-breast's note,That tells of bridal tenderness,Where on the breeze he'll warbling floatAfar his nesting mate to bless —Come, whisper, 'tis not always Spring!When birds may mate on every spray —That April boughs cease blossoming!With love it is not always May!Come, touch her heart with thy soft tale,Of tears within the floweret's cup,Of fairest things that soonest fail,Of hopes we vainly garner up —And while, that gentle heart to melt,Like mingled wreath, such tale you twine,Whisper what lasting bliss were feltIn lot shared with her Valentine.My Wish Poet: Byron Pulsifer, ©2021If I could wish for just one thingIt would be that happiness would bringA love so strong,Forever be a lasting bondI love you more and more each dayI love you more than words can say!Announcing My Love Poet: Julie Hebert, © 2012I want to proclaim my love,On this cliché of Valentine's Day.This isn't really how I planned it,It just ended up this way.I wanted to do it different,At a time when love wasn't sold,But I guess you can't just plan it,Love just comes and must be told,So regardless of this day,I am happy to announce,That I have fallen victim,And of this, I must pronounce.I am so in love with you,You'll be my morning dove.I must say one more thing,Happy Valentines Day, My Love.Power Of LovePoet: Bernhart Paul HolstA word is but a simple signOur mental status to reveal,Or our motives to conceal,Or the false with truth combine,Not so with our true affection,Which flows on with perfect rhyme,And the heart feels no dejectionAt the joyous mating time:Hate gives out sad, doleful groans,Love speaks in the sweetest tones,Love was given us from heaven,And the heart was taught to love!By the spirit from above,Earthly ills to soothe and leaven,Love's the privilege of the mind,The soul and reason of all life,The law that governs all mankindAnd frees us from the bane of strife:Hate seeks to darken and distress,Love governs wisely with kindness,Love is an Incarnate blessing,Springing from the inner soul,Making the heartsick fully whole, Cheering with its sweet caressing,Love has power to soothe the madnessOf the stern, unkind and cold,And to change drear gloom to gladnessAs if turning dross to gold:Hate is stern, cold and decoy,Love is life and strength and joy,Oh! for Cupid's bow and arrow,That I might enflame the drear,That I might the lonely cheer,And with love displace keen sorrow,As a star speaks to a star,As the light springs from the flame,So affection, near or far,Reciprocates true love again;Hate drives every joy away,Love kindly calls and bids you stay, Valentines Day Poems For FriendsRoses For My Friend Poet: Catherine Pulsifer, © 2017Roses are red, violets are blueFriends like you make are far and few,Over the years the laughter we have shared,And the things we've done where others would not dare,I appreciate you, my friendBuddies we will be to the end,Wishing you a wonderful Valentines DayAnd happiness in every way!A True Friend Poet: C. Pulsifer, © 2019Many smiles we have sharedAlways willing, you always care,Good times we have had manyI wouldn't trade those times for any!When faced with an issue you always tryTo help and be there, you're always on standby,I appreciate the support you have given to meYou're the truest person a friend could be,So on this Valentines dayLet these verses just sayYou are a great personAnd a true friend.Happy Valentines Day! Short Valentines Day PoemsA valentines wish just for you!May love and happiness pursue!A day of love and thank you's too!Wishing you happiness in all you do!Kisses and hugs are sent your way!To say have a Happy Valentines Day!May sunshine and happiness be with you!And may the day be a good one too!Valentine's day declares our love!For family and friends, we thank God above!A day to show how much you care!A day to make others aware!So here's a message just for you!! appreciate all that you do,With you, in my life, things are so fine!Every time I see you the sun does shine!You bring happiness to others each day!So today on Valentine's I just want to say!I love you in every way!I often don't take the time to say!How much you are love in so many ways!You're always willing to help when I'm in a bind!You are compassionate and so kind!Have an amazing Valentine's Day!May God bless you, I do pray,More Special Occasion Poems & Quotes to Share Related Short Poems & Quotes You May Also Like: Short Love Poems True Love Poems Thinking of You Poems Famous Love Poems Send Her A Valentine Romantic Poems Wedding PoemsValentines Day is celebrated each year on February 14th.
